Filled With Nothing also known as Filled is the creator and owner of many Discord servers, the cunny.zone Minecraft server and the cunny.zone website. He also serves as the main developer for the website. He is an open advocate for internet privacy and anonymity, making him liked among other advocates. Roleplayers enjoy him for his welcoming receptive nature towards them. Many people believe that he has a form of Autism, but a high-functioning form of Autism. This combined with his upbringing are what they believe is responsible for his distinct personality, outlook, and actions. He is an avid user of Linux distributions, with EndeavorOS as his main distro of choice, because of this he is very proficient at using the terminal. As the main and presently only developer of cunny.zone, he is also proficient at remote server work as his website is hosted on a VPS.

Origin

Filled With Nothing was born and raised in California, but mostly in Los Angeles. Growing up, he lived a mostly carefree life, mostly indoors and constantly online, using devices connected to the internet. Because of this upbringing, he would develop a distinct and desired personality among a certain group of people. In 2018[2)] he created a Discord server, known as the Reggie Discord server. This server would be linked below one of his semi-successful YouTube videos either in the description or the comment section. It's then that he would gain a light amount of popularity, as his server would reach thousands of members. He would initially enjoy this popularity before slowly disliking it, as most of the people he gathered were not to his liking personality-wise. Eventually, he would be completely fed up with the server and its group of people and create the first Cumball Discord server.

Personality

Due to his upbringing both online and offline, Filled has an antisocial, introverted xenophobic personality offline mirrored with a more open and desensitized personality online. Due to many good things in his online life seemingly arriving out of thin air, he has developed a more passive, less outgoing method of meeting new people, instead relying on the tried-and-true method of building it for people to come, like he has done many times with his Discord servers. He enjoys chaos, anarchy, freedom, and watching the world burn, but above all, freedom, not only for himself but others.

Relationship with roleplayers

Filled is very desired among the roleplayer community, with many of them coming and going throughout the years of his server. (although recently there have been only two, a small fraction of what once was) It's theorized that there are a couple of connected groups in of them in particular that have caught an intense interest with him and keep reusing accounts under new acts in order to get his reaction personally, a practice that has seemed to dwindle over the past couple years. The account reuse has seemed to bewilder the remaining members of the server, spawning many different theories and assumptions as to why that was practiced.

Fragility

Filled believes, either ironically or unironically that he would be unable to survive in the real world. Despite many varied attempts to convince him to change his outlook on life, none have prevailed due to his stubborn nature. He believes that he should die young instead of living to see his body change during the years and rot, much to the disappointment of the people who enjoy his presence. He takes pride in his pale, white skin, a result of spending long stretches of time indoors and seldom outdoors, and believes that white is right to a delusional degree. (Although this is definitely one of the bits he is dedicated to, among others)
