Fritter, also known as Apple, or APLFRITTER is a mysterious short-lived LARP that had a supposed complete lifespan of 15 minutes. The roleplayer behind this character is unknown but they are affiliated with the roleplayer behind Senkno; they are assumed to be friends. Her character was created and launched on October 19, 2021 and lasted a grand total of 15 minutes, when, after joining Cumball, she began DMing people rapidly one after the other accusing them of being liars. Discord's automod would detect this and require her to provide a phone number to prove that she was not an automated spam bot, and, since she had no phone number to provide, her account and accompanying launch were shelved permanently.

The rapid killing of the character prompted the roleplayer behind the character to quit Discord permanently according to Senkno, and, as there is no evidence to the contrary, like a revival or a similar character appearing after, it appears to be true. The roleplayer behind the character still adopts the moniker of Fritter, which leads many to believe that she still roleplayed as the character, but not on Discord or near Cumball.

Their mysterious nature and rapid murder by Discord make her one of the most interesting and alluring LARPs of all time to LARP enjoyers like Filled With Nothing. Her personality seemed to be built on trust issues, judging by their about me being just "liars" and her DMs to people accusing them of lying. This character had the potential to quite an interesting inclusion in Cumball, due to it being an anarchy server full of degenerates.

Relevance and leaked memo

Fritter has been mentioned multiple times by Filled With Nothing and Senkno over the years, but with the latter's disappearance and character death by absentia, and the former's lack of knowledge about the character in question, she would not be mentioned for many years at a time.

In November 2024 a possible leaked memo would emerge on cunny.zone³⁾ featuring the usernames of many people with "APLFRITTER" as one of its recipients. This would spark a discussion between the Nokotan LARP and Filled about Fritter, but it would be brief. Filled would ask Fritter to come back, claiming that she was his boyfriend, but to no avail.
