fruit is an infamous Asian-american¹⁾ roleplayer who used to roleplay as a fictionalized version of himself on Discord and in the Cumball Discord server. He was known for typing one message at a time and being a favored victim of the well-known Polish girl-failure chuie, who found him cute and vulnerable; he would remain her victim for some time until telling her straight to back off. Fruit is a fan of the Anime Space Patrol Luluco and its titular character Luluco, who served as the profile picture for his accounts fruit9424, fruit 2.0, and fruit 3.0 respectively. The account he is most known by, and both of his alt accounts appear to be abandoned, and his main account still remains unknown. He is good friends with the other roleplayers Dolby and Pao, as well as a third mentioned friend Zenith. He was also friends with YativasLaughingAtYou

Origin

In late June 2021, fruit, with the help of his friend Yativas decided to bait creeps from edating servers as a character they created together on one of fruit's alt accounts. After joining a few Discord servers and chatting for a few hours, it was considered a bust.

Later on in 2021, he would change the details of this alt account to fruit and start roleplaying as a fictionalized version of himself on the account that spoke one word at a time, such as one word per message. This unique messaging style allowed him to ponder for a longer period on how to continue or end his string of messages, but was considered very annoying and rude to others.

Relationship with Chuie

It is unknown how the relationship between them started, but it started in 2021. Chuie would be the main icebreaker in the majority of their conversations, which would be in DMs. Chuie would send unprompted media of herself in a wide variety of situations and doing various things to get a satisfying reaction out of him. When she did not get a good enough reaction out of him right away, she would do increasingly insane, absurd, or erotic things to get him to budge. Eventually, fruit had enough of her constant begging for his attention and consistent unwarranted sexual and romantic advances towards him and decided to firmly state that he didn't want anything to do with her. This made her back off from him for good.

post-Chuie

fruit would remain relatively active after his relationship with Chuie, but would eventually become increasingly inactive as weeks went on. Fellow Cumball members like Skies would take a liking to his way of speaking and would see it more than just a gimmick, unlike most people. He would remain a stoic, level-headed voice of reason in Cumball for months.

Character death

After many months of inactivity, fruit's fictionalized version of himself was considered dead from absentia, and his accounts abandoned after showing no signs of life. After 4 years of continuous inactivity it is assumed that fruit either left Discord, or abandoned those accounts.
