iCunny.com was a niche, free-to-use website and collection of services created by Filled With Nothing. It was originally created in early 2022 and was used extensively by its creator and users totaling in the tens of people until it was closed on October 14, 2024 due to numerous attacks against the website and the presence of illegal content on the site.

iCunny's name, and font choice were a reference to the image sharing site iFunny.co, and even the original domain was meant to be iCunny.co, but that domain was claimed by a third-party who used it to host a free cunny-centric imageboard. The domain remains vacant as of September 4, 2026.

The site's core visual identity remained mostly unchanged since May 2022, despite many changes in the services offered during its lifespan. It would continue to offer services until its closure, and many aspects of it like its pages, the Minecraft server, and more were carried over to its official successor cunny.zone.

Services

iCunny offered many free services to registered users that were slowly rolled out since early 2023, the first being the chat functionality, then file hosting that allowed users to send attachments in the chat, then the Minecraft server.

File Hosting

File hosting was added early on as a feature of the chat system, predating profiles or even names, allowing users to share images with others in the same chat.

With the addition of usernames and a full user account system, users were soon given the ability to upload files of nearly any type such as GIFs, and videos alongside support for more image types.

Minecraft server

iCunny.com hosted a Minecraft anarchy server that remained continuously hosted until the site's closure. After the site closed, the same server, world, and data were hosted again on cunny.zone, virtually unchanged.
